19th International Elephant Conservation and Research Symposium

November 14-17, 2023
Location: Chiang Mai, Thailand

Call for Abstracts

The International Elephant Foundation, the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine Chiang Mai University, the National Elephant Institute, and the Faculty of Veterinary Medicine Kasetsart University cordially invite you to present at the 19th International Elephant Conservation and Research Symposium beginning on Wednesday, November 14th, 2023 in Chiang Mai, Thailand. This symposium will bring together elephant conservationists and researchers from around the world to present on a diverse range of conservation projects and research outcomes. We are seeking abstracts covering topics related all species of elephants, EEHV in range countries, human elephant conflict deterrents, policy and land use planning, novel concepts for conservation, veterinary management, disease investigation, reproduction and behavior, conservation activities utilizing elephants in human care, and other issues that impact the long- term survival of elephants.

We look forward to working together to creating another excellent forum for which those working on behalf of elephants can share, learn, and be inspired!
